

Our Data and Privacy statement

We do not ask for, nor do we keep any unnecessary data from our customers. If you are making a purchase from us, we need your name, email and postal address in order to complete our transactions with you.

If you would like your details deleted from our records when we have completed our transaction, then please contact us at lapucepublications@hotmail.co.uk and we will verify your identity with an email to your stored email address and then comply with your request. Otherwise your data will only be used to let you know of any offers or new material that we have available in the future. If you are happy with this then you need to do nothing.

If we already hold your data (i.e. Name, email and/or postal address) and you would like it removed from our data bank, please email us at la Puce Publications as above.

We NEVER pass on your details to any other company or individual for their commercial or private use. We NEVER sell any data to any other company or individual for any commercial or private use.

In fact, we are perfect, almost!
